

THE NEW YORK TIMES, FRIDAY, AUGUST 10, 2007

SPARETimes

Aug. 10 - 16

WINGSPAN ARTS CONSERVATORY

SUMMER 2007 (Tonight through Sunday) Wingspan Arts, an organization that lives up to its name by encouraging young people to spread their wings through creative endeavors, is presenting the efforts of some of the talented teenagers who attend its programs. It will offer two theatrical productions — Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" (tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday at 2 p.m.) and Willy Russell's musical "Blood Brothers" (tonight at 7:30, tomorrow at 2 p.m. and Sunday at 7 p.m.) — and one movie, "Reel Life: An Original Film" (tonight and tomorrow night at 7). At Eleanor Roosevelt High School, 411 East 76th Street, Manhattan, (347) 701-1476, wingspanarts.org. Free, but a $10 donation is suggested.

LAUREL GRAEBER