

Wingspan Arts Arts Online

Customize Your Own Arts Experience

Wingspan Arts provides custom in-school arts residencies designed to meet the needs of our school partners. In response to COVID-19, we transitioned our residencies to distance learning, and we are excited to continue to partner with schools remotely for the 2020-21 school year. We are also open to small group in-person instruction with the appropriate size and safety precautions in place.

Our arts education and integration programming is available in all arts disciplines (Theatre, Music, Dance, Visual Arts). During the planning stages, we thoughtfully work with school administrators, PTA members, and families to design each program for its corresponding grade level based on state and national standards, in addition to specific arts standards such as those outlined in The New York City Blueprint for the Arts.

Customized Options include:

Independent Arts Pods:

Small group learning in residential buildings, parks, online communities, and more

Arts Integrated Lessons:

Creative lessons integrating students' academic curricula with theatre, music, visual arts, and dance

Custom Online Residencies:

Pre-Recorded or Live Teaching from Arts Educators available for school partnerships during school day

PTA Partnerships:

Imaginative extracurricular activities targeted for specific school communities

Let's start a conversation and see how, together, we can customize an arts education program that enhances and enriches the educational experience of your school or residential community.
